Worship Field trip to Capitol Pageant
Sunday, December 2; Meet at Lakeview at 2:45pm

Due to our UW Hockey Schedule and several conflicting events for all of our musicians, we are trying something different this week. We will meet at Lakeview and carpool to the State Capitol for the Capitol Pageant concert and live nativity. This event has been part of the Madison Christmas tradition for over 90 years! It is sponsored by the Knights of Columbus and the West side Kiwanis Club. High School musicians from several area schools sing and play Christmas carols, in the Capitol rotunda, while a live nativity is staged. Those unable to meet at 2:45pm are welcome to meet us there for the 4:15pm performance. Please let Pastor Staci know if you plan to do this, so we can coordinate a meeting spot.

Watchword 2018 for Lakeview Moravian Church

"He will bring me out to the light; I shall see his vindication."  - Micah 7:9 (New Revised Standard Version of the Bible)

Unseal our lips to sing your praise in endless hymns through all our days; increase our faith and light our minds; and set us free from doubt that blinds.

“Joy comes to us in ordinary moments. We risk missing out on joy when we get too busy chasing down the extraordinary.” Brene’ Brown

They are words that we are so familiar with that they are completely overused in our language, yet their meanings are difficult to explain. They are on bumper stickers, coffee cups, magnets and tee-shirts, and we have whole books on what they really mean to human beings.

During the season of Advent, we use these words to highlight the theme of each Sunday that brings us closer to our celebration of the birth of Christ. We talk about these words and their meanings in the context of the coming of Immanuel - God With Us - the one we know as Jesus. We do this every year.

Part of what I think makes these words difficult to explain is that they happen in relationship to one another and God. They aren’t ideas that just live in our heads and in books or on bumper stickers. These words happen everyday of our lives. As followers of Jesus, we want to live out these words in actions and in our relationships, just like he did.

Here we are at another Advent. We have lived in this faith community together, and we have experienced each one of these words together. There haven’t been any miraculous experiences, but there has been plenty of hope, peace, joy and love here. It has all happened in the ordinary days and weeks, as we have practiced it in faith together. Some of the time, I have experienced these words in the most difficult times we have shared together.

Our intentions are often good in Advent, but often we mess up practicing these words because we want them to be perfect — ideal — holy. Each year we read the story of God With Us — Immanuel — Jesus being born to us and I see such unpolished humanity in it. It is a glimpse into life for ordinary people, yet in the midst of it these holy ideas come to life, too. It is all still there in the story of God With Us, and it is all still here for us today. God is with us, just as was promised long ago. Watch for God breaking in to your life these ordinary days.

May you experience and offer all of these, in your lives and to the world.

PRAYER LIST:
From the Ecumenical Officer

I share portions of a report from Brother Rowan Simmons, pastor of New Dawn Moravian Church in Toronto, who last month represented the Moravian Church at the Parliament of World Religion.

“The Parliament of World Religion, a gathering of religious and spiritual and faith-based persons from across the world, celebrated its 125th anniversary in Toronto from November 1 to 7 under the theme The Promise of Inclusion, The Power of Love: Pursuing Global Understanding, Reconciliation, and Change. This is an attempt to bring everyone at the table for a common purpose in our quest to become responsible stewards of the earth. Over 10,000 people of faith and conscience from 80 nations and more than 200 unique spiritual backgrounds assembled at the Metro Toronto Convention Center,

“One of the highlights came at the opening ceremony where the Aboriginal/Indigenous/Native groups were given a voice to tell their stories in their own way and in their own language. It was almost a deafening silence as they spoke about hundreds of missing aboriginal women, their music that was outlawed in Canada for over 122 years and the negative consequences of the residential school system. This sombre mood however, was turned into a rapturous delight in appreciation of their culture with the parade of traditional garb, poetry, stories, music and dance. . . .

“Any conference of this nature would attract varying if not completely differing views in terms of beliefs but it must be noted that all religions desire the same thing for our people and that is to live in community with each other in spite of our difference. . . . this is our spirituality and the place we find our commonality. Differences we believe are not meant to divide but show how much we are independent yet interdependent and need each other for survival; and unless we develop real love and compassion for all including those whom we hate and those who hate us and those who are different from us, there can be no meaningful and lasting peace. Difference and diversity therefore should be celebrated as we are never so far that we cannot find a common ground for the sake of existence and collaboration. Working towards removing the suspicion is our challenge for we shouldn't have to change who we are in order to be accepted.

“The question on how to be inclusive and deliberately create a space at the table for the conservative and liberal communities and voices; for those who have identified themselves as spiritual and not religious; for those on the periphery/the margins or those who feel ostracized and condemned was explored with the aim for action. It was agreed that there needs to be reconciliation. It begins by:

- Inviting those who are different to sit at the table
- Affirming and acknowledging their humanity and their quest to be better human beings
- To identify points of contact/common interests
- Be sensitive to the usage of religious terminologies of faith communities (language) as it might offend others
- To enter into meaningful dialogue that will lead to reconciliation
- Forgiveness is an integral part of reconciliation as it is a gift to the offender and liberation to the one who is offended.

While it is true that religion often perpetuates persecution it is also equally true that religion often prepares the heart to forgive. Forgiveness is important because it's a moral choice.”

Annual Advent Concert & Candlelight Service

Sunday, Dec. 9th - 7:30 p.m.

Featuring:

The Glenwood Trombone Choir & Advent Concert Singers

Come and enjoy this gift offered to you by your neighborhood church. Invite your friends and neighbors as we celebrate the season together. The celebration concludes with a candlelight service.

A goodwill offering will be taken and given to a local charity.
“There are inevitably real people behind the strident slogans and ideological labels in today’s immigration debate. Roy Germano’s The Other Side of Immigration does more than any other work to give people otherwise disparaged as ‘threatening’ and ‘illegal’ a human face and to reveal the devastating effects of U.S. immigration and economic policies on our closest neighbors.” —Douglass Massey, Princeton University
