An Afternoon for Mission

Mark your calendar and plan to attend ‘An Afternoon for Mission’ at the London Moravian Church located at N5610 County Road O just outside of Cambridge on Sunday, March 17th at 2pm. Southern Wisconsin Moravians for Mission is excited to hear about a mission trip that Jenny Hollenberger and her husband Jim went on earlier this year to Peru. Great things are happening in Peru! Jenny and Jim went with a group from Jenny’s work, SSM Davis Duehr Dean Eye Care to provide eye care services to those in need. Bring a friend and plan on staying after their presentation for refreshments.

Calling for Capes! Schenk Elem. Ally Superhero Night Needs Your Help

Sewing Capes for Kids to Express their Strengths

Schenk will be hosting their 4th annual Ally Superhero Night this May in celebration of their Welcoming Schools work. This has helped create a school environment where all students feel safe, valued and respected. Students will be sharing their published writing about being an ally superhero in order to help celebrate their ally leadership. As part of the event, all students will be creating their own superhero capes!

The Seeds of Peace Churches can help make this night a huge success! How? By sewing simple capes that the students will decorate with their own, superhero shield that will be sewn onto their ready-made capes. Pastor Staci has fabric and ribbon that has collected, which needs to be cut for 2 sizes of capes and shields. She also has the patterns for capes and shields (Square). All scraps should be saved for students to decorate the shields. Ribbon should be roughly 4 ft long or 18 inches on each side of cape collar. There are also examples of completed capes. All patterns and fabric types are welcome. Have fun mixing and matching the ribbon with fabrics when designing the capes.

By May 16th we need all capes cut and ribbon sewn on in both sizes. We will need 150 of each size cape and 300 fabric shields. Please bring finished capes to Lakeview Moravian and Pastor Staci will have them delivered to Schenk. Questions? See Pastor Staci.
Watchword 2019 for Lakeview Moravian Church

At that time I will change the speech of the peoples to a pure speech, that all of them may call on the name of the Lord and serve him with one accord.” - Zephaniah 3:9 (New Revised Standard Version of the Bible)

Holy God, we praise your name; Lord of all, we bow before you. Saints on earth your rule acclaim; all in heaven above adore you.

Infinite your vast domain; everlasting is your reign.

At the Annual Meeting in January, we had a discussion about worship. The questions the board was asking were basically this:
“In your opinion, how have the Sunday morning worship changes worked for you in the last year?” AND
“Would you be interested in having the pastor present at church each Sunday morning, rather than have the pastor in worship on alternating Sundays?”

We had good discussion. Some folks brought up things they liked about the current format. They noted the participation of more church members in worship as a positive change and a good growth experience. Others preferred to try it the ‘other way’ to see if it might offer more continuity in worship for the congregation, and since that had not been tried before either. And some folks, unfortunately, were not able to be part of the discussion at all that Sunday.

The understanding was that we would have the discussion at church council, so that the board had a sense of what folks were feeling about worship and whether anything needed to be changed. It had been nearly a year since we started this new way of doing Sunday morning worship leadership. I felt the questions needed to be asked. The alternating Sunday schedule was an untried and untested model for Sunday morning for each congregation, and we don’t know if it will be sustainable in the long run. The ‘itinerant’ pastor model for serving two, or more, churches has been done much more frequently, but not at these two Moravian congregations. The board needed some information from the congregation.

The feedback from the congregation will be discussed by the Unified Board in the March meeting. The intention is not to make more changes for the sake of changing, but to do ministry in the most effective way that we can. It is very possible that the board will determine that the current format will still be the best way we can function for the good of both congregations. Even if that happens, it will be worth having had the conversations. When you make big changes, it is important to see if they are working.

 Mostly, I want to thank you for your input, as we continue to explore effective ways of doing ministry together. You have all offered your gifts and energy to this big transition in the last year, in order to see the ministry of Lakeview Moravian stay faithful in its work and worship. We will see where God takes us from here.

From the Ecumenical Officer

March 2019

Once a quarter I am the Moravian representative at a gathering of fifteen to twenty men and women for box lunch at a church somewhere in the area. This gathering started some twenty years ago as an effort to bring together persons from denominations, mostly smaller or more conservative groups, who for various reasons were not part of the state council of churches. The group now at any meeting includes some smaller or more conservative groups, some mainline groups, and the Roman Catholic and Greek Orthodox churches. The program is simple: lunch, a half hour of free prayer, eight-minute sharing of personal faith journeys by two individuals, and one eighteen-minute presentation of some program of one of the denominations.

At the congregation I am part of, every committee or board meeting starts with everyone sharing what is going on in their own lives, in their families, in their work, in their leisure or travel (It is OK to pass). Sometimes this becomes the most time-consuming item of the agenda.

My wife and I are part of a group of six families and two unmarried persons who meet once every three weeks in one of our homes, with host providing the main course and everyone providing something else. After a little singing we spend an hour sharing where our families are and praying together. Members of the group have helped one another move, at times helped one another financially, and supported one another at times of death and disappointment. The group’s roots are in a few persons, from a variety of religious backgrounds, who attended college together.

What these three vignettes have in common is the importance of sharing our stories with both those close to us and those not so close. We often discover that even those with whom we have strong differences of experience and conviction also have much in common with us. I have read that one reason our U.S. Congress is less productive is that members of the two parties spend less time socializing than they did in the past.

When I moved from my first parish to my second, the local Catholic priest, two decades my senior, came to my farewell. He said it was the first time he had ever been in a Protestant church building. Fortunately that relationship has changed. But there are many areas where, as individuals, congregations, and a denomination, we can grow by sharing with and listening to others.

Lord Jesus, you came that we may have abundant life. Help us to discover some of that abundance by learning from others, and help us to share the ways in which you have brought abundance to us. Amen.

Immediately after the Sunday worship service, members of Lakeview met for Church Council. A quorum of 31 communicant members was determined to be present. Pastor Staci called the meeting called to order. The minutes from the 2018 Church Council meeting were reviewed. A motion to approve the minutes was made by Will Roberts and seconded by Don Krugman, and approved by a voice vote, with no dissenting votes cast. After asking for any additions or changes, a motion to accept the agenda as written was made by Linda Shaw and seconded by Ellen Schuster. The motion was approved by a voice vote, with no dissenting votes cast.

The Treasurer’s and Financial Secretary’s reports were briefly presented. It was noted that Lakeview fully paid its obligations to the District and Province for 2018, and that we received generous support of $10,000 from the Province to assist in our basement repairs. Thanks were offered to Jim Blair and Dave Loppnow for their work as Treasurer and Financial Secretary. A motion was offered to accept the reports by Don Krugman and seconded by John Krugman. The motion was approved by a voice vote, with no dissenting votes cast.

The proposed budget for 2019 was discussed. The budget includes approximate 2.5% increases for staff and continues to include $3,000 for supply pastor costs for the Sundays Pastor Staci is at Glenwood. The maintenance line shows a budgeted amount of $11,600, which will allow the Joint Board to expend the current balance in the building fund on basement repairs. A motion was made to approve the budgets by Judy Bates and seconded by Joan Manthe. The motion was approved by a voice vote, with no dissenting votes cast.

The situation with the basements was discussed to provide information to the members. Last fall, with high ground water, hydrostatic pressure resulted in the heavy flooding that we experienced. To restore the basements to use, at a minimum, the project would involve mold remediation and asbestos removal or abatement to address environmental concerns. This may cost on the order of $20,000 per basement, potentially involving Lakeview members doing preliminary work removing all wood and loose items from the basements. The contractor would do the asbestos and mold removal, as well as renew the flooring. A more comprehensive project to accomplish the asbestos and mold removal, but also waterproof the basement against future flooding events would be more costly, perhaps on the order of $40,000 to $50,000 per basement. As far as the pre-school location, it was noted that the pre-school is operating on a temporary license for the upstairs rooms. Longer term, improvements to the upstairs space may be needed to provide kitchen space to support their operation if they are to remain in that area. Decisions on the basement projects and the overall building will depend on the future use of the facility, but will need to be made in the next six months or so, and implemented in the next 18 months.

Vacancies on the Unified Board were next addressed. The terms of four Board members expire at the end of 2018. Two of those members are leaving Board (Judy Bates and Diane Beyler) and two of those members are available to serve a second term (Peter Putz and Pat Olson). Will Roberts and Dave Loppnow were nominated to fill the two vacant positions. A motion to accept the slate of four people as a whole was made by Evelyn Krugman and seconded by Lori Putz. The motion was approved by a voice vote, with no dissenting votes cast. Thanks were offered to the members who are leaving the Board, as well as those who will continue on the Board and newly join it. A prayer was offered for the Board as they work on behalf of the congregation.

The written reports were next considered. It was noted the number of people that are using the building, with more than 200 people involved in preschool, violin, 4H, Daisy, and theater groups. A motion was offered to accept the reports by Linda Shaw and seconded Pat Olson. The motion was approved by a voice vote, with no dissenting votes cast.

Bylaw changes relating to the Unified Board and the quorum requirement were considered. The changes reflect an eight person Unified Board and a quorum of 20 members (rather than 30). A motion was offered to approve the changes to the bylaws by Dave Olson and seconded Don Krugman. The motion was approved by a voice vote, with no dissenting votes cast.

There was a discussion of the worship services at Lakeview and Glenwood. Currently, Pastor Staci generally alternates leading worship at the two congregations. An option that could be considered would be to shift the worship times at the two congregations so that Pastor Staci could lead worship at both churches each Sunday. It was indicated that the Boards of the two congregations would explore this option.

Pastor Staci offered a closing prayer.

A motion to adjourn was made by Linda Shaw and seconded by Don Krugman, and approved by a voice vote with no dissenting votes cast.

Respectfully submitted, Dave Loppnow
